DIDN'T BELIEVE IN BANKS

And All His Money Was Burned Up in Consequence.

Mention was made last week of the burning of Mr. B. Edenfield's home north of town, but at that time we had not learned the extent of the loss. His residence and furniture was worth in the vicinity of $3000 and he carried no insurance at all. We also hear it reported that seven or eight hundred dollars in money, besides many valuable papers, were destroyed in the fire. This emphasizes the fact that banks are made to keep money in and if a person fails to put it where it will be safe from fire and burglary he is pretty sure to lose it before long. Mr. Edenfield has the sympathy of everyone in his loss, and all are glad that he is much better able to stand it than the average citizen. —Perry Herald.

Roosevelt Kills Four Lions.

Nairobi, Africa, May 1.—Four lions are trophies of Roosevelt's camp in the Masai hills tonight, and two hundred natives are joining in the celebration of the unusually good luck.

The lions were bagged yesterday. Roosevelt's mighty gun brought three of them to the earth, each on the first shot. Thus one of the ex-president's fondest ambitions has been realized. He is also proud that the fourth of the jungle kings fell before the gun of Kermit, who, however, took three shots. Both the father and son are jubilant.

The lions are of normal size and were dragged by natives to the camp.

The caravan started early yesterday morning and several kinds of game were killed by nightfall. Kermit used a camera more than a gun.

The Dollar Social.

Quite a unique entertainment was given Thursday night of last week at the auditorium by the Earnest Workers of the Methodist church. Each member had agreed to earn $1.00 and tell in verse how it had been earned. The poetry, all of which was original, showed that the ladies of this society had been visited by the goddess of poetry. Many of the poems were rich in humor.

A splendid musical program was rendered, an instrumental solo by little Miss Henrietta Groover was especially enjoyed. The song by little Blanche Westmoreland was one of the best features of the program and reflects much credit on this talented little lady.

The number which called forth the greatest applause was the "Shaking Quakers" a song and motion drill by several girls and a boy, dressed in Quaker costume.

A neat sum was added to the treasury of this society and a very pleasant evening was enjoyed. This is one of the most wide-awake organizations Live Oak has ever had and they showed on Thursday night that their accomplishments were not limited to the making of fancy articles, but that they could earn money in various ways and write poetry as well.

Dainty refreshments were served free to the large audience who had gathered to listen to the "spring" poetry.

The Wailes Claim.

As is well known to the readers of this paper we have opposed the payment of what is known as the Wailes claim, first, last and all the time. Our opinion on this matter remains unchanged, but a bill has been, or will be, introduced in the legislature now in session to permit persons having claims against the State to sue the State in the courts the same as any other corporation. The bill is a good one and should pass, notwithstanding the fact that Wailes would be the first man to take advantage of it.

It is an infernal outrage that the largest corporation in the State—that is, the State Government—can contract with persons for labor to be performed and be immune from being forced to pay by due process of law.

Every citizen of this State—it matters not how humble, or obscure his position, nor how small his grievance—should be permitted free access to the courts for adjudication of his claim and, especially, as the claimant has to press his suit at his own expense.

Such a law is a good one, it should have been engrafted in the State Constitution and we hope that it will be enacted by the present legislature. —Jasper News.
